Torrance Hospital to Hold Open House Here on Tuesday

"Many Hands—Many Skills" is the theme of National Hospital Week which will be observed throughout the United States from Sunday, May 8 through Saturday, May 14. As part of the observance, Torrance Memorial Hospital will hold an Open House on Tuesday, May 10 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Tours will be conducted by members of the Hospital Auxiliary throughout the hospital at which time members of the community may become acquainted with the many hands which perform the many skills in our own hospital.

ACCORDING TO Leonard A. Ensminger, hospital administrator, the open house will enable the public to see for the first time some of the many changes and improvements which were effected at the hospital last year. One of the most extensive improvements was the complete remodeling of the X-ray department including the purchase of a 250,000 volt constant potential deep therapy unit and some of the most advanced X-ray equipment. A total of approximately $35,000 was expended for the improvement of the X-ray department alone.

ALTHOUGH IT will be impossible, because of surgery schedules, to go through the surgery suite, visitors will be able to see the suite where 4318 operations were performed in 1959—an average of 11.8 operations each of the 365 days of the year.

The tour will also include a visit to the maternity wing, and if possible the delivery suite where 1788 children, including 18 sets of twins, were born last year.

AMONG THE OTHER hands performing the many skills necessary for the operation of a hospital which will be seen by the visitors will be kitchen and diet departments, laundry, and pharmacy.

Ensminger, the board of directors of the hospital, and the Auxiliary cordially invite all interested people to attend the tours and the tea in the staff room between tours, he said.

D.A. McKesson Launches Drive For Re-Election, Scores Dope

"Narcotics, juvenile delinquency, and the constant threat to Los Angeles County of organized crime presents local law enforcement agencies their greatest challenges," District Attorney William B. McKesson said yesterday.

The evaluation came as McKesson formally opened his drive for re-election to the post he now holds.

"We in Southern California are fully aware of the seriousness of the narcotics problem," McKesson said. "If re-elected, this problem will continue to receive top priority from my office. It is now a matter of major concern to us. The office, however, as the busiest prosecutor's office in the country, has many other time-consuming demands, all of which must continue to be given careful attention. Because of the work we have done on the problem during the past months, I anticipate that our approach toward a solution of the narcotics problem will soon begin to show effective results."

McKESSON SAID juvenile delinquency is closely allied to the narcotics problem because of the increasing use of narcotics by juveniles.

The District Attorney added that the third greatest problem is one which is a constant threat . . . the possibility of organized crime getting started in Los Angeles. "My office considers the continued prevention of any organized crime beachhead in this area is one of our major efforts."
